Hobson's Crew Plays A Bang-Up Game To Defeat Miners

Captain H. B. Baxter, Blue Devil left end, is the man of the hour in the Glades region. He played smart defensive football and his field generalship was brilliant in the Blue Devil's contest with Ponce de Leon of M i a m i Thursday night, but what will long live in the minds of Coach Hobson's followers and arise to haunt the memories of the Ponce de Leon gridders is Baxter's 99 2-3 yard weaving, spinning, fading run with an intercepted pass for a touchdown. That touchdown proved to be the winning margin of victory for the Blue Devils.

Baxter's run was reputedly the longest in the history of Burdine Stadium and it left 1500 fans pop-eyed with amazement. Ponde de Leon, with Hogue, Myers and Kelly opening the line, drove to within inches of the Pahokee goal line shortly after the third period began. On the next play, Ponce strategy called for a short shovel pass over the line from fullback Holland to Hagan, substitute wingman who waited in the end zone. Holland took aim and fired but the pass never exploded—for Ponce de Leon—as Baxter seemingly out of nowhere, leaped into the air, gathered the pass into his arms on the one foot line and commenced his 99 2-3 yard journey. Baxter shifted through a broken field until he reached midfield. By that time, Pahokee's alert team, had sensed victory in the night air and formed beautiful nine man blocking interference for the remaining 50 yard jaunt. Thus did Baxter turn what appeared to be a possible winning touchdown for Ponce de Leon into the game winning drive for the Blue Devils.

With two more downs to go, the touchdown when Baxter's interception upset the deo bucket. The timing of the deo strategy might be the strongest of the third down goal, line pass but whatever that may be nothing can dull the brilliance of Baxter's touch.

Except for this one, apart by Baxter, the game was an even, hard-fought affair throughout. The first strong drive scored the opening touchdown on successive passes that completely puzzled the Blue Devil backfield.

After the initial drive, the game came back in the second quarter with a smashing, hard-driving offensive that found Boynton, Frasier, and the Ponce de Leon 20, yard line. Excellent blocking, on the next play, sprung Joe Tom Boynton over the line for 20 yards and the tying touchdown. The half ended with the score knotted at 6 to 6. Following the half time rest the Ponce gridders grove deep into Pahokee territory where Baxter turned the tide with his interception... From then on it was a desperate battle with Kelly and Myers tossing pass after pass in air attempt to shove Ponce into the running. The Blue Devil aerial defense was air tight, however, and the Cavaliers most lethal weapon proved useless in their fourth quarter attack. Pahokee, on the other hand, played smart

In the line it was a battle-of-ends with Baxter and Spooner edging out ahead of the two less experienced Ponce de Leon wingbacks. Frequent off-tackle smashes found Bob Beardslee and Williams stone wall on the defense and brutal blockers and tacklers on the defense. Pahokee found unusual strength in her second team reserves. The hard fought game exerted plenty of pressure on the regulars but they were capably replaced for short breathers by D. Beasley, Hancock, and others of the Blue Devil reserve squad.

With championship recognition in the wake of their 12 to 6 triumph over Ponce de Leon, Pahokee's Blue Devils will watch Miami High and Robert Lee High of Jacksonville claim today and the Tampa U.-Miami U. contest before returning home Saturday night.

SUNDAY AND MONDAY

"Always Goodbye" says "hello" to motion picture audiences of Belle Glade Sunday and Monday at the Everglades theatre.

In the arrival of this 20th Century-Fox dramatic production the fans are promised some surprises.

First, the picture co-stars those ever-increasingly popular experts of the deeper tones of southern drama—Barbara Stanwyck and Herbert Marshall.

Then, Ian Hunter leads the featured cast. Long has been the actor's last 20th Century-Fox film was the memorable "To Mary with Love."

Let every hand owner check up on all heating equipment, to clear out all rubbish that may be a fire hazard. Children should be cautioned concerning the handling of matches, and of building fires during play. "Use common sense but surely this isn't necessary as a precaution" and concern for simply one week's observance. The loss of lives and property goes on throughout the country. Look to the fact that the loss of life due to fire averages twenty-seven people a day. Consider!

HITCH-HIKERS

There are a large number of motorists who still pick up hitch-hikers as they go along the public highways. This, in spite of all warnings to the contrary. One of the various instances of this with dire results to the motorist, which can be read in most any large daily paper, would be a lesson in caution. The youth picked up who proved to be an escaped inmate of a home for feeble-minded, later broke into a house and seized a young woman with a threat to kill her, could have proven less merciful with the man who gave him the lift.

The fellow who, picked up a hitch-hiker, shot him in the back of the head and took the keys to the car, could have proven less merciful with the man who gave him the lift.

There is many a man who shies at hitch-hiking, but who believes it is better to say it than write it, for maybe you couldn't read it if he wrote it. We have learned that there are many distinguished statesmen and famous writers, who were poor hitch-hikers. So most of us can appreciate the partial contents of a 500-word letter from a man seeking a job as relief inspector in a Canadian province.

CAN YOU QUALIFY AS A DRUG STORE COWBOY?

If you can qualify for a drug store you buy this newspaper has definite information as to a certain place where you can secure a mount. If you are a little better than the rest of the herd, much better. Because the mount is nothing more or less than a genuine midge-size short-handled pony.

Marion Rely, general manager of Darden's Pharmacy in Belle Glade, got an idea recently that the cowboy's just that. There isn't any catch to it, Mr. Rely says. The pony is going to be given away. If you're interested in such a gift just drop in at Darden's and talk it over with Mr. Rely.

Some of the fellows, who spend a few hours and nickels at the popular store, are wondering just how funny Dr. W. J. Back, Lake Jones, Jack Rees, Hubert Chambliss or maybe Arthur W. Starnyck and the rest of the pony—should either of them win it.

TAXES ON VOTING

The merits of the poll tax, as well as arguments against it have been debated widely in this state since the abolition of the tax as a requisite to voting. The change came at the beginning of this year, was voted by the last session of the state legislature.

A recent exchange of opinions by President Roosevelt and Senator Carter Glass of Virginia over the subject of poll taxes proves interesting in this connection.

During the informal debate, the Christian Science Monitor says, "Mr. Roosevelt attacks poll taxes as a relic of old property qualifications for voting and implies they keep two-thirds of the white population of Virginia away from the polls. Mr. Glass answers the charge by saying that the trouble is most of those who pay the poll tax do not trouble to cast a ballot. He proposes the abolishment of the poll tax, to levy a tax on qualified voters and not to exercise their privilege."

And pointing out that there are some other phases of this question, the same paper says, "It is an aversion of democracy that the poll tax must keep away from the polls, to levy a tax on qualified voters and not to exercise their privilege."

TOO LATE TO CLASSIFY

The European war threat brought home to us what changes have taken place in the last twenty years. When the war started in 1914 it seemed a very distant affair and while the newspapers, with cable reports, kept us informed, it was all very impersonal and far away.

Not so the present crisis. Press reports, more detailed and complete, were given and deeper radio reports that came to us hourly or often throughout the days and nights.

Into our very living rooms came the actual voices of the principal actors in the world drama. From Prague, London, Rome, Berlin Warsaw and many other points came vivid pictures of what was transpiring.

In many instances we in America knew what had happened before the people of Germany were informed. We were permitted to compare the bombastic utterances of Hitler with the calm deliberate delivery of Mr. Chamberlain. Reaction and public opinion in each country was vividly portrayed by speakers who appealed to us in a variety of languages.

Diplomats, commentators, news hawks and the man on the street all had their say. The picture was complete up to the very doors of the council chamber, and what happened behind those doors was revealed to us the minute they were opened.

Each skirmish that occurred in the Czechoslovakian border was re-created in our homes. We knew when the German army marched, when Londoners received their gas masks and began the construction of bomb shelters. We saw the diplomatic scurried from here to there were right on their heels. The whole picture unfolded itself in a more or less complete and comprehensive picture and we as judge and jury could sit back, weigh the evidence, and form our own opinion.

As you and I listened-in, here in Florida, countless millions of other folks throughout the world heard the same thing. During this tense period the whole world had its mind centered on this vital question of Peace or War. Affairs that in years gone by had been left primarily to a few diplomats were this time a matter of concern for the common citizen of not only those countries involved but of the whole world.

To Chamberlain, for his magnificent and tireless effort, must go the major credit for the preservation of Peace. To Dr. Benes, to Chamberlain, to the world's opinion, we owe in tribute, and history will probably record that these men by their effort and insight, prevented a catastrophe that may well have cost millions of lives and caused the useless destruction of billions in property.

Another powerful force, however, also had much to do with the outcome and that force was public opinion. As the peoples of the world listened-in on developments, heard with their own ears the statements and appeals of contending groups and considered the actions and attitudes of each, they formed their own opinion. Neighbor talked with neighbor, friend with friend. Newspaper reflections on this opinion, passed it on in editorials, radio commentators viewing and reviewing the situation, checking and re-checking everything pro and con, gave further voice to this rising tide of world opinion to the end that it became a force that the men who were attempting to shape the destiny of nations were forced to heed.

Hitler—ruthless, bombastic, headstrong—at the start, was made to feel that mighty force. Mussolini, of the same temperament, also recognized it and decided to swim with, rather than against it. The world did not want war, it wanted peace. At the time it wanted justice and fair play. There are those who feel the price paid for peace in this instance was high, and while the terms of the four-power pact may have been "face" for Hitler in Germany, it has cost him much in the opinion of mankind, Czechoslovakia, on the contrary, while relinquishing a portion of her territory, has won the respect and sympathy of the whole world, which in the end is many times more valuable than the material things she has lost.

Modern communications and the close contacts of all nations by means of alert radio and press, has won the respect and sympathy of the whole world, which in the end is many times more valuable than the material things she has lost.

Safe Combination Slips Mind of Ford Dealer in Pahokee

There isn't a man in the Everglades who can walk up in a vehicle and twist the dial—open the thing—without knowing the combination. That is there isn't one that the public knows about. However, if such a man had happened along Wednesday B. Elkhott would probably have given him a substantial amount to unlock his safe.

It seems that every time B. concentrates on the combination—how it was made—he gets a little which way and how many times to turn the dial. Wednesday afternoon it was impossible for him to get into the safe. But he couldn't. He couldn't work the combination. He tried. In fact he tried a dozen times. He gave up in the end.

He concentrated on another subject—far removed from a safe, so he said. He concentrated deeply and he walked by the safe—he gave the dial a flip—what? It opened. He wouldn't tell this reporter what he used as a subject for concentration, but it worked.

State Jaycees To Seek Aid Of 100,000 Fellow Members To Raise Sugar Quota

Movement Headed By Tom F. Smith, State President

MIAMI, Oct. 6 (FNS)—Launching a nationwide campaign to bring about the repeal of the sugar act of 1937, which limits the production of sugar cane grown in the continental United States to 5 percent of that consumed by the nation, the Florida Junior Chamber of Commerce has appealed directly to the 455 Jaycee organizations throughout the country urging their help in the fight.

The present law regulating the sugar industry is a relic of the scale it justly deserves. The present law, Smith points out, limits production to 100,000 tons, most of which is allotted to Louisiana.

Sugar production presents one of the greatest opportunities of the present era for constructive industrial development, and lifting of the quota would result in a sugar expansion program involving an expenditure of between seven and ten million dollars.

Florida has this land suitable for sugar production; capital is ready to expand the industry; and thousands of work, investing millions in the development. Smith points out, and adds that the Florida Junior Chamber of Commerce will carry its appeal to over 100,000 individual Jaycees throughout the country to use their influence in convincing Congress to increase the quota for sugar production in the United States.

Under the leadership of State President Tom F. Smith of Miami, Florida Jaycees hope to discourage federal legislation against Florida sugar manufacturers of sugar cane and pave the way for the development of the sugar industry in this state.

Consider the fact that there are five persons in the average family and that the present estimate that 1,000,000 persons would be supported by Everglades sugar production, paying "American" sugar.

Condemning the present practice of restricting sugar production in the continental United States, President Tom Smith asks why it would not be just as fair and equitable to restrict the production of all other products produced in this country and permit foreign nations to supply our needs.

Florida has this land suitable for sugar production; capital is ready to expand the industry; and thousands of work, investing millions in the development. Smith points out, and adds that the Florida Junior Chamber of Commerce will carry its appeal to over 100,000 individual Jaycees throughout the country to use their influence in convincing Congress to increase the quota for sugar production in the United States.

Bond Issue For School Improvements Imperative If Schools Are To Continue Present High Standard of Education

Approximate figures of the total valuation of real estate holdings in school district number one of Palm Beach last week by Carmen Salvatore, local member of the county school board. The property as assessed by J. M. Owens, Jr., county tax assessor, has an approximate value of $120,000,000 in tax assessed value.

"There are at this time 8,079 restaurants in the state, and one of them is cooperating to the fullest degree with the Florida Hotel commission in the observance of all rules and regulations working toward increased efficiency of operation, sanitation and health features," Commissioner of the state said today.

"They are in the best of shape for the 1938-39 winter season, with a total seating capacity of 20,000."

"Of the 8,079 licensed restaurants in the state, Commissioner Taylor pointed out that 463 with a seating capacity of 15,470 persons are operating in Palm Beach county."

"I have compiled this information at considerable cost to the Florida Hotel commission so that civic and business organizations of each county may know exactly what the restaurant facilities are, in case they wish to plan on business meetings or conventions in addition to regular trade in summer or winter," Commissioner Taylor said.

In explaining the appointment of the tax bureau if the forthcoming district bond election is passed, Mr. Salvatore states that an increase of 15 mills will be necessary to provide the improvements sought by the issue. Using this plan all homesteaded properties will be exempt from the increase but the "Murray Act," which has placed all tax inactive lands back on the tax active list, will provide the source for at least a 15 mill increase.

The school board, he agreed with bond holders to refund all bonds issued and of 1938-39 and so maturing after 1954. This procedure will effect a total of $174,000 in bonds and will place bond holders an approximate 1 1/2 percent in tax assessed value.

"I have given a great deal of study to the financial condition of this state," Corbett, said. "The payments of the state are placed upon a sound financial, economic basis, and all unnecessary expenditures have been eliminated."

Miss Louise Rawlin, president of the Epworth League of the Community church, was hostess at a banquet and social session at her home Thursday evening.

It was decided to sponsor a Halloween Carnival to stand a fund for the purpose of defraying the expenses of delegates to the State Institute next spring. Refreshments were served at the session to the session to Betty Rawlin, Betha Aly, Carl Barrett, Junior and Carl Owen. The next devotional will be conducted at a buffet luncheon Sunday, Oct. 9.

Jessie and Madeline McDowell will be hostesses to members of the Epworth League of the Community church at their semi-monthly buffet luncheon devotional next Sunday following Sunday school at the McDowell home in Bean City. The subject for discussion will be, "Why Should We Live As Christians with Others?" Each member is requested to read Paul's epistle to the Romans and to make a list of the things which they can do to help in preparation for this service.

Three negroes occupying quarters on the Roy E. Hudson farm set out on an ill fate fishing trip Monday morning. They embarked in a row boat on the rim side canal back of the H. S. Kraus farm and started across the channel which is approximately 30 feet deep at that point. Frank Turner, 20 years of age, who came here from Jacksonville last week, became a mark of the water and a rough crossing due to a stiff breeze. The boat capsized and, unable to swim, he asked for his companions could rescue him. All efforts to recover the body Monday were unavailing due to the depth of the channel. The plan to dynamite Tuesday in hopes of bringing the body to the surface was abandoned by the time the body was recovered. The other negroes, Charles Meeks and I. Phillips, reached the shore in safety.

"Governor Cone strongly advocated adequate old age assistance in his campaign for the governorship," this official said. "In his address to the legislature he said, 'We are in a different position now than we were in when the legislature met two years ago. The general pension law of 1936 voted a constitutional amendment by a large majority of the people to state demanding that the legislature provide for old age pensions and assist the blind and dependent children of this state.'"
